

Corporate Healthcare Management Portal

The client has extensive experience of creating and delivering corporate wellness strategies, from health education and promotion to comprehensive health screening programs. These are delivered to major corporations. Employee health screening forms an integral part of a corporate "wellness" strategy and health benefit program for many employers. The client provides a comprehensive range of health screening including state of the art tests. Anonymous results can be analyzed for trends and the program design is regularly reviewed in line with research developments and healthcare trends.

Results can also be interpreted to better assist firms in developing their corporate healthcare strategy.